

Solera Today

Supports Solera

When Solera Today was born last August, the mission was clear. Enhanced communications was the goal. We solicited your comments and suggestions. We heard them and we acted on them. And of course, there's always more to do. Solera Today has become a go to place for Veterans seeking answers to complex questions. (Thanks to you who continue to supply new information and updates.) And thanks to our Neighborhood Watch program for the opportunity to get their important safety message out. Our Stories page has highlighted some of your interesting neighbors. And of course there's lots more information available. Google Analytics tells us many of you visit often.

In addition to sharing our advertising revenue with the Newsletter via ads like this, we have begun a program where we provide "mini grants" to Solera's clubs and committees. Still in its infancy, we've issued several checks so far. Help us do more. Advertising is the engine that allows us to give back. Help us identify prospects for both the website and the newsletter. Just give us a vendor's contact information. We'll do the rest.

Please visit us to view the latest updates and critical information that affects all of us in Solera. You might also find something to entertain. If you have something to say, please let us know.
